

Specialists in supplying lacquers, adhesives and abrasives

Combining the highest quality products, with expert technical back up, to deliver a first-class customer service experience

Who we are

We love solving problems! We question our customers about the issues they're facing and listen closely to their replies. We then apply our expertise to arrive at an in-depth understanding of their problems, and we use those insights to come up with the best solutions for them and for their projects.

Whether we're striving to obtain a perfect colour match or solving an issue with adhesive performance in a difficult production environment, we always undertake to supply only the best products available. The greater the challenge, the better! We will persevere until we find the right solution, no matter how long it takes.

We care about our world

We pride ourselves on being an ethical company and, as such, we have joined the SME Climate Commitment. This means we plan to reduce our greenhouse gas emissions by at least 50% by 2030 and achieve net zero emissions by 2050.

Interior wood finishing

We are the UK's leading supplier of Hesse Lignal's highly-durable primers, multi-coat and finishing lacquers.

Hesse products are environmentally-friendly, formaldehyde-free, and suitable for any kind of wood. They combine fast drying times, long pot life and high solids content, all of which lead to increased efficiency and reduced waste. The company's certifications include EN13501, DIN68861 & IMO... to name but a few!

When we supply products from the Hesse Lignal range, we also provide access to customer support based on Redwood's extensive technical knowledge and practical know-how.

I can't speak highly enough about our experience with Redwood. We have built a fantastic relationship with the team over the years, their technical expertise is second to none. Thanks to their efforts, we are now seeing far better quality finishes on our products with significantly reduced processing times. I am certain this wouldn't have been achieved without Redwood's input. For any business looking for quality wood finishes and abrasives, backed up by good old fashioned customer support and technical advice from a friendly and professional supplier, contact Redwood. A great company to deal with and we very much look forward to working with them on future projects.

Exterior wood finishing

Exterior wood finishes by Zobel offer excellent durability, weather resistance and an unrivalled high-quality finish.

The Zobel range complements Redwood's ethos of supplying best-in-class finishing solutions that deliver tangible cost savings for your business.

Zobel's top-quality clear and opaque coatings all display a bright, smooth finish which requires minimal sanding and additional coatings.

Switching to the Zobel exterior range will enable you to deliver enhanced finishes at reduced costs... and provide access to our dedicated and unrivalled customer support.

Over the years we have developed an amazing partnership with the staff at Redwood, the product knowledge is clear and no stone is ever left unturned to make sure our products are top quality and to the standards our customers expect from us. Redwood always deliver on time and when you call for help, nothing is a problem and you're always presented with a couple of solutions which save the day.

Abrasives

We supply a full range of abrasives from Sia - one of the world's leading manufacturers of industrial abrasive products - suitable for a variety of applications.

For over 135 years, Sia Abrasives has ranked as one of the world's top suppliers of abrasive products. Their dedication to maximising production efficiency, enabling healthier workshops and minimising wider environmental impact, are just some of the reasons why they are partners of choice.

How we can help make your workshop safer

We conduct a free Health & Safety review of your business, looking at ways to reduce dust when sanding. Dust particles are a significant fire risk, can ruin a smooth paint finish and slow your productivity, as well as being a major health hazard which can cause asthma and other respiratory diseases. Get in touch to find out more.

Redwood has been supplying us for many years, the customer service has been outstanding and still to this day is a great company to work with. I would recommend them to any other company who require the brilliant product range they can supply at competitive prices.

Adhesives

We supply a full range of adhesives for every application, with products from leading brands including Anchor, Apollo, Bostik, Borden and many more.

From PVA supplied in bulk in our Eco Crates, to small tubes of epoxy resin – we offer next day delivery nationwide when ordered before 2pm.

At Redwood, we take the time to understand your specific requirements before we recommend a reliable adhesive solution.

Speak to us about our adhesives training service

Experts in adhesives, we work with our customers to identify the best products to use and how to use it. We specialise in veneering, contact adhesive, PVA, UF resins, cold press and hot press.

Special focus is given to storing the products correctly and how using different mixing ratios makes a difference to the functionality of the product, particularly when using UF Resin. Get in touch to find out more.

Excellent company to deal with. Very friendly people. Always keen to find a solution to a technical adhesive problem. We will always purchase our PVA from Redwood in the future. I also recommend them for bulk formaldehydes. Great service! Keep it up.

We are dedicated to providing high quality, performance products – but not at the expense of the environment.

Developed by and unique to us, Eco Crates are a perfect alternative to traditional intermediate bulk containers. These fully- reusable, stackable crates minimise waste, helping the environment... and helping businesses save money.

And there's no need to worry about disposal. We collect them free of charge and re-use them in future deliveries. The only waste produced is the liner itself!

Consumables

We supply a full range of workshop consumables to complement our extensive wood finishes, adhesives & abrasives product range, including all Soudal and Tesa ranges.

From tapes, to mixing cups and protective clothing – Redwood provides a complete solution for the workshop; making it easier for our customers to save both time and money.

Arrange a free sustainability review

Redwood's sustainability review will uncover the eco-friendly initiatives you can implement within your workshop. This may include swapping your intermediate bulk containers for our Eco Crates to reduce your carbon footprint, looking at the possibility of water-based wood finishings to lessen your impact on the environment, or supply products with a longer pot life to limit excess waste. Get in touch to find out more.

What I can say about this company. From the start, the team have been nothing but helpful, which was really appreciated by me. You have been knowledgeable about the products and what you thought would be best suited to our needs. Cannot praise this company up enough. I would recommend 100%.

We help plant Redwood trees to offset carbon emissions

While all trees are crucial to maintaining a stable climate, redwood trees are true climate change heroes. Studies show that redwoods capture more carbon dioxide from cars, lorries and power plants than any other tree on earth.

That's why for every delivery we make, we contribute towards planting redwood trees to offset the carbon footprint.
